I have found that a simple reward system can make a huge difference when trying to get the students to be actively involved in the class. During the speaking activities I take note of those who follow the directions and are participating during the exercises and then give them a sticker or stamp on this sheet which each student has. It has been a tremendous motivator and the students involvement has increased tremendously since I have begun using it. You may also use this to create a participation grade. I divide the number of stickers/stamps earned by the number of opportunities given to the class and come up with a grade. For those students who are not great test takers it gives them an opportunity to get a good grade if they put forth the effort.
