

Elmer was different from the other elephants.

Elmer was a colourful patchwork.

Elmer met other animals in the jungle: The lion, the tiger, the hippo, the giraffe, the zebra, the crocodile and a tortoise.

Elmer found a large bush covered with grey berries.

Elmer pulled it and shook it so that the berries fell on the ground.

Elmer picked up bunches of berries and rubbed himself all over.

Elmer looked like any other elephant.

When Elmer met the other animals again, it wasn't recognized.

Elmer was in the middle of the other elephants.

He lifted his trunk and at the top of the voice shouted: BOO!!

The elephants were very surprised and jumped.

They started to laugh as they had never laughed before.

It started to rain and his patchwork started to show again. Everybody had a good time with Elmer.

From that funny day, they decided to celebrate this day every year as Elmer's Day.

All elephants decorated themselves and Elmer will decorate himself elephant colour.